Supervisors Face Grave Problem On Planning Commission

FARMERS ASK FOR MORE 'VOTES'

Two Terms Will Expire
On Jan. 15; Bureau
Backs Farm Side

A question of gravest importance to farmer interests of Orange county will be thrust directly into the laps of the board of supervisors on Jan. 15, when the board considers the matter of appointments to the Orange county planning commission.

On Jan. 2 the new land use ordinance, under which the commission operates, will go into effect. On Jan. 15 the terms of Jules Markel and Hugh T. Thompson, members of the commission, expire and the board of supervisors will take up the question of replacements or re-appointments.

Ask Representation
Farmers, under the leadership of the Orange county farm bureau, are asking equal representation, or a preponderance of agricultural representation, on the zoning body. They say it is one of the most important issues affecting agricultural interests in this county.

The commission is composed of six members and three ex-officio members. On the board are Jules Markel, Santa Ana contractor; Dr. W. L. Bingham, Anaheim osteopathic physician; L. W. Briggs, Balboa realtor; Oliver Halsell, Santa Ana business man, druggist, and director of the Santora Land company and other holding companies; Hugh T. Thompson, Orange citrus grower and engineer; W. K. Hillyard, Orange county surveyor; and W. F. Menton, district attorney.

The ex-officio members, who have an equal vote in the activities of the commission, are Nat Neff, Orange county highway engineer; W. K. Hillyard, Orange county surveyor; and W. F. Menton, district attorney.

Powers Are Broad
It is the business of these men to rule as to uses, improvements, future and disposition of all unincorporated areas of Orange county, meaning all the county's agricultural territory.

Their powers are broad, and their responsibility to the farmers of the county is great.

"The question," says R. D. Flaherty, executive secretary of the farm bureau, "is simply that we (the farmers) are not getting (Please Turn to Page 9, Col. 3)

$75,000 BLAST RUINS BUILDING

MIDDLETOWN, O., Dec. 28. (AP)—A blast believed by officials to have originated in a broken gas line early today ripped from its foundation a three-story brick office and laboratory of the American Rolling Mill company, badly damaged an adjoining structure, splintered windows nearly a mile away and caused loss estimated by Charles R. Hook, president, at $75,000. No one was injured.

BULLETINS

(By The Associated Press)

HINDUS, MUSLIMS RIOT
CALCUTTA, India.—Two persons were reported killed today and many injured in rioting between Muslims and Hindus during simultaneous observance of a Mohammedan religious festival and the jubilee celebration of the Indian national congress.

ENTIRE FAMILY KILLED
PACHOGUE, N. Y.—Escaping coal gas killed the family of Robert T. Jerrrell today. A fellow worker sent to arouse Jerrrell when he failed to report at his office found the parents and three children dead.

ARNOLD PROMOTED
MARCH FIELD.—Brig. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, commander of the first wing G. H. Q. air force here, was notified today to report for duty at Washington as assistant chief of the air corps.

AVIATORS BOMB LAVA IN ATTEMPT TO ALTER FLOW

Army fliers dropped bombs on this fiery river of lava flowing from Mauna Loa in an attempt to divert it from a course which threatened the water supply of Hilo, T. H. Moving along at the rate of a mile and a half a day, the molten mass devastated every living thing in its path. This spectacular photograph was taken at night. (Associated Press Photo)

Lava Flood Continues On Toward Hilo Despite U.S. Army's Bombing

HILO, Hawaii, Dec. 28. (AP)—The lava flood from Mauna Loa, though bombed by United States army planes yesterday, moved forward relentlessly today.

It struck timberline on the great mountain overnight, wiping out a wide swath as it flowed toward Hilo's water supply source.

Dr. Thomas A. Jaggar, government volcanologist, from his lookout on the mountainside reported the molten rock was creeping along 150 to 200 feet an hour. This was one-fourth its speed of yesterday, but Dr. Jaggar was unable to say if the change was caused by the 20 600-pound bombs dropped by army planes in an effort to divert the flow.

Bombs dropped yesterday were

The huge planes, flown here from Honolulu, stood ready for a third attack upon the flaming mountain should it be necessary. Ten bombs were dropped upon the river and the mountain itself Friday morning and 10 more in the afternoon. Thin pillars of black smoke arising from the mountainside were the only effects visible from here. Observers nearer the scene reported one bomb, apparently striking directly in the crimson river, hurled sheets of lava high in the air.

The lava flow had advanced to within 15 miles of Hilo and about four miles of the city's water reservoirs.

Bombs dropped yesterday were directed both at the lava river and at the volcano itself. Authorities hoped the explosives might close the great vent in the mountain from which lava has been pouring for five weeks and force it to find another outlet which would turn the lava away from Hilo.

Meantime, residents of Hilo went calmly about their business. Dr. Jaggar let them know there was no occasion for "panic," although he warned the "condition is unusually serious as the flow is directly in the drainage path (leading toward Hilo)." He said if the lava entered the reservoir and the Wailuku river it might turn the water into steam and follow the river bed into the city.

JAPAN HELPS INVASION

Manchuoukuoan Army Is Advancing Into Chinese Province

SHANGHAI, Dec. 29. (Sunday) (AP)—A Manchoukuoan army assisted by Japanese airplanes, said a Chinese report today, is advancing across Chahar province of China and threatening to sever part of it from Chinese control.

The invaders were reported to be driving a military wedge toward Shantung, on Chahar's western frontier, and possibly isolating the northern half of the province.

Simultaneously, 2000 irregulars under the pro-Japanese leader Liu Kewi-Tang were reported invading northern Hopei province.

They were said to be menacing the rail center of Changping, 25 miles northwest of Peiping.

SEEK TO STORM RELIEF MEET

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 28. (AP)—Two hundred men and women tried to get in the Biltmore hotel where the state relief commission was in session, to protest relief budget cuts. The crowd was stopped by police and hotel officers.

Assembling in front of SERA headquarters, the group marched in a body to the hotel. It was the second relief demonstration of the day.

Florida Citrus Escapes Damage In Record Freeze

LAKELAND, Fla., Dec. 28. (AP)—Florida's climate began getting back to normal today after the coldest December on record. The weather bureau forecast occasional rain for tonight and tomorrow and predicted warmer temperatures in the north and west portions tonight and all over the state tomorrow. The December cold caused millions of dollars loss to truck crops, but did not damage the state's citrus. For two days freezing weather has penetrated the northern section of the state and extended into the central portion. It was 25 at Jacksonville early today, 36 at Tampa and 44 at Miami.

LAVAL VOTED CONFIDENCE IN CRISIS

Trouble Feared Despite Victory Of Premier; Pledges League Aid

(Copyright, 1935, by Associated Press)
PARIS, Dec. 28.—Premier Pierre Laval, fighting for his political life, wrested a double vote of confidence from the chamber of deputies today but his majorities were so small that the danger of a cabinet crisis remained.

The votes came after two days of debate on foreign policy and while armed mobile guards were held in readiness outside the chamber to crush possible disorders.

Slim Margins
By the slim margins of 296 to 276 and 304 to 282 Laval escaped the fate of his fellow-author of the dynamited Anglo-French plan, Sir Samuel Hoare. Hoare was forced to resign as Great Britain's foreign secretary because of resentment to the proposal.

The votes came after two days of bitter leftist attacks pledged today that he would follow the League of Nations to the limit in its efforts to end the war in Africa. Some deputies feared Edouard Herriot and the other radical Socialist ministers might resign, or that the cabinet might be overthrown when the chamber returns from its New Year's vacation Jan. 14.

ETHIOPIANS TAKE CITY IN SURPRISE RAID
ADDIS ABABA, Dec. 28. (AP)—An Ethiopian government communique reported today Addis Ababa, 25 miles west of the main northern lines, was captured by the Ethiopians in a surprise attack which drove back the Italian native troops.

The bodies of 20 Italian officers and many natives, fighting for the Italian side, were reported found on the battlefields where the Ethiopian forces have been waging intensive guerrilla warfare.

The official communique said 100 Italian native soldiers were captured. Official reports also said that Italian outposts had been driven out of the Makale road, in the mountainous Tembien sector.

CHINESE LEADER WOUNDS SELF

NANKING, Dec. 28. (AP)—Brig. Gen. Hsu Fan-Ting, chief of staff of the Nanking government's first army, attempted harikari today because of grief over what he considered China's inability to resist foreign aggression.

He was taken to a hospital in a serious condition after his attempt as disembowelment in front of the mausoleum of Sun Yat Sen, first president of the Chinese republic.

U.S. THAWS OUT; 220 ARE DEAD

CHICAGO, Dec. 28. (AP)—The nation began thawing out today after a Christmas week of bitter cold.

Icy weather that froze most of the country lifted overnight, leaving but one spot—Sault Ste Marie, Mich.—under the zero level. It was two below there. The frigid snap was blamed for at least 220 deaths in 28 states.

Resolution Time Santa Anans Tell Theirs As New Year Approaches

The old year is about rung out; the new year is nearly here. In a few days the book of 1935 will be closed and next year's volume opened to a fresh page. It is proverbial to look ahead at this time, to the year that is coming, starting the new book with some kind of a resolution to carry through the next 12 months with, if we can.

A Journal reporter today asked on every corner, "What is your New Year's resolution?" Santa Ana responded variously.

"More jobs," said Dan Mulhern, Works Progress administration head. "Enough jobs for every man in the county that needs one. That's enough New Year's resolution."

His secretary, Miss Agnie Le Gates, couldn't believe the reporter was serious. "I never make them," she said. "I'm a good girl, anyway."

A girl picked at random behind a counter said: "Gosh, it's leap year. I know what I'm going to do, all right." The reporter learned his name was John, but there are lots of Johns.

Give Liquor Enough Rope And it Will Hang Itself, Is Theory of Dr. Warmer
(Editor's note—What of the liquor problem in California? Where are we heading? Back to prohibition, say many. Included in this number are some who are not radical on the subject. Should the entry of the business be taken away from the state board of equalization? Are state-controlled liquor stores desirable? These and scores of other questions are to be answered in a series of articles in The Journal, of which this is the third. Opinions will be largely those of Santa Ana and Orange county citizens, expressed on both sides of the controversial liquor question.)

By BOB GUILD
"Liquor! If you give the devil enough rope he'll hang himself," Dr. George A. Warmer, pastor of the First Methodist church, said last night when I asked him about liquor conditions here and elsewhere, for the third in this series of interviews on the question.

Dr. Warmer, whose social and civic work in Santa Ana has made him one of the better known men in the life of the city, said pointblank that "California is probably one of the worst-bested states in the union."

He believes that liquor as a whole is anti-Christian and destructive, that conditions are worse than they ever have been, that a change must definitely be made for the better, and that the license he says exists today must be curbed.

He does not believe, however, that prohibition is due to arrive, although a "thorough disgust is being generated among the thinking people of the country."

"No control of the industry will be possible," he stated, "until the economic factors of the case are considered and provided for. I (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 1)

F. D. R. INVITES AL SMITH

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28. (AP)—Alfred E. Smith has been invited to be a guest of President and Mrs. Roosevelt when he comes to Washington to address the American Liberty League dinner Jan. 25.

The invitation was sent a week ago, but the former governor and critic of the New Deal has not replied. Close associates expected Smith would not be a White House guest.

YOUNG MILNE TELLS PLOT TO G-MEN

Boy Arrested, Charged Before Judge With Extortion Attempt

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (AP)—Confessing that his "kidnaping" was a hoax engineered in an attempt to get some money, Caleb J. Milne, IV., was arraigned today before U. S. Commissioner Garrett W. Cotter, on a charge of attempted extortion, a violation of the U. S. postal laws.

$20,000 Charge
Ball was fixed at $7500. A hearing was set for Jan. 9. The specific charge on which he was arraigned said he had deposited "a letter in the United States mails demanding $20,000." The ransom money was never paid. J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the federal bureau of investigation, announced young Milne, grandson of a wealthy Philadelphia textile manufacturer, "kidnaped himself as a matter of publicity to help him get a job on the stage."

Young Milne was found near Doyleville, Pa., Dec. 20. He was bound, trussed, gagged and declared he had been "doped." He had been "missing" since Dec. 16.

"He broke shortly after midnight," Hoover said, "and told us the whole story of how he had conceived the idea when he was in desperate financial straits and couldn't get a job."

"None of the other members of the Milne family, as far as we know, have at any time had any knowledge of the hoax," Hoover asserted. "They have all cooperated with us to the fullest extent."

Mother Not Found
Miss Anita Smith, Caleb's aunt, said she had "no comment" when informed of the confession at her Woodstock, N. Y., home. A boy's mother could not be reached.

Hoover said the statement was signed after the younger Milne had been questioned by Inspector Michael F. McDermott of the New York police, Assistant Director Harold Nathan of the federal bureau of investigation, and Special Agent Rhea Whitley, head of the bureau's New York office.

Hoover said Milne told him this story: "Milne went to a 5 and 10-cent (Please Turn to Page 9, Col. 4)

OPINION RALLIES FOR PARK Citizens Vote on Purchase

Public opinion today rallied to the support of the Santa Ana city council, in its plan to buy a 20-acre park site, at a cost of $28,500.

A total of 44 votes on the question had been received at The Journal office by noon today. The council stood 39 "yes" votes, to only 5 "no" ballots.

The council holds an option, expiring on Jan. 1, on the site, located northwest from the corner of West Washington and Flower streets, which is owned by Blanche and Bertha Tiede.

The question of whether or not to buy the property is being left up to the people of Santa Ana, who have been asked to answer the question through The Journal. Votes can be phoned, mailed or brought to The Journal, but must be acted on by Monday evening.

The property, valuable in its own right, would be used in the event of its purchase as a location for the proposed new Santa Ana National Guard armory, to provide an additional park for the city, and to provide employment for a number of men in preparing and maintaining it.

THELMA TODD DEATH MYSTERY BRANDED 'PUBLICITY BAND-WAGON'

WEST KNOWS 'MORE' HE DECLARES

'Mystery Guest' Known To Film Star's Cafe Partner, Claim

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 28. (AP)—The Thelma Todd mystery was branded a "publicity band-wagon" by one official today as the grand jury, investigating the death of the honey-haired actress last Dec. 15, postponed further hearings until Monday.

While followers of the case pondered evidence of Pasquale (Pat) Di Cicco, ex-husband of the comedienne and that of Roland West, who admitted he "knew more than I have told so far," Deputy District Attorney George Johnson took the first semi-official step toward "de-bunking" the whole affair.

"The case has revolved itself into a hodgepodge of honest evidence and obvious faking," he said. "It is a publicity band-wagon."

The investigation of Miss Todd's life and death met a tacit denial from her divorced husband that they were to be reconciled, but drew an admission today from her "best friend," West, that he may know more than he has told.

Di Cicco, whose two-year marriage to the screen comedienne was legally dissolved in 1934, said he told the county grand jury he had no information regarding her affairs, and that he had not seen her alone in six months.

"Only Kidding" He declared he was "only kidding" when he accepted an invitation to a Hollywood dinner party Dec. 14 honoring Miss Todd, two days before she was found dead in a garage from carbon monoxide poisoning.

"I went to the Trocadero that night with Margaret Lindsay, and the only time I saw Thelma was when we danced near her," her handsome ex-mate recalled.

"I can say definitely that I was not the 'mystery guest' Mrs. Wallace Ford says Miss Todd planned to take to the Ford cocktail party Sunday afternoon. I don't know of anything in Thelma's life that would have led to her murder," Di Cicco said.

Expected to be one of the last witnesses when the grand jury resumes its hearings Monday, West, former film director and associated with the actress in a sidewalk cafe, branded as "ridiculous" the assertion by actor Charles (Duke) York that he was the "mystery guest."

"I know the name of the person Miss Todd had intended to take to the Ford party, and I'll disclose that name to the grand jury, not before," said West. York had announced he and "Lord Lansdowne," a wrestler, had planned to escort the actress to the affair and pose as English noblemen for a "gag."

"Nothing To It" Declining to subpoena the two, Foreman George Rochester of the jury said, "there's nothing to it. Their stories don't make sense."

Detectives continued an attempt today to confirm a report that the actress had been severely beaten several days before her death. Both West and R. H. W. Schafer, manager of the sidewalk cafe, denied such an incident had occurred.

Tests of Miss Todd's vital organs to determine whether she was suffering from the effects of narcotic or poison at the time of her death were expected to be completed today.

MORE ABOUT LIQUOR

(Continued from Page 1) favor a monopoly, not for profit, for government. You must take the profit out of whiskey if you are to curb it.

There are three things, according to Dr. Warner, that must be done if attempts to regulate the liquor industry are to be successful. "First of all," he said, "we must start an educational crusade to inform young people of our nation regarding liquor. They have forgotten it is a narcotic, and still think it is a stimulant."

"Secondly, we must kill the liquor advertising, and by that I mean completely remove the profit angle. When we get Santa Claus advertised as a distributor of booze we have gone about the limit."

"Thirdly, the business should be conducted as a government monopoly, on a non-profit basis. We must stop the drive of salesmanship, and the enticement of the places that purvey liquor. The government should operate distilleries, run distributing plants, and sell through government owned stores."

Although Dr. Warner believes in local control of the situation and local option on liquor problems, as an immediate remedy, he does not believe they will be enough to settle the problem.

Economic Aspects "They do not solve the profit angle," he said. "Prohibition failed because we did not properly consider that angle, because we failed to consider the economic aspects of the case. Any other solution which does not settle this problem will fail also."

He compared conditions now with pre-prohibition days, when he

TAX BILL IS NEARLY 60 PCT. PAID

Orange county has a bigger tax bill this year than last but already it has chided away nearly five-sevenths of the increase. And this is only half time for tax payments.

This year's bill is $714,199.42 larger than that of 1934. But payments so far amount to $458,325.54 more than they did at this time last year.

59.82 Per Cent Paid Further indication of better business conditions was seen today in the announcement by Tax Collector John Lamb that 59.82 per cent of this year's total bill has been paid. Last year at this time the payments were 55.3 per cent of the total bill.

Mr. Lamb has collected $2,860,985.69 on the first installment. The total he is charged with collecting this year is $4,780,299.29. The remainder is scheduled for payment next April.

Last year the total to be collected was $4,065,499.87. Payments on the first installment amounted to $2,372,656.15 at this time.

Some Is Protested Of the total paid so far, approximately $229,000 has been paid under protest. The largest payments protested were those of the public utilities, which objected that the present setup whereby they pay taxes to counties instead of to the state, is unconstitutional. They also objected to raising of their assessed valuations by the state board of equalization without having notice and a chance to protest.

Of the amount protested, approximately $18,000 is composed of Santa Ana taxes. City Auditor Lloyd Banks said today this is approximately 5 per cent of the total amount to be collected by the city.

SLAY KILLER OF 4 MEN

BUTTE, Mont., Dec. 28. (AP)—The death of an admitted killer of four men eased public tension in southwestern Montana today while police and witnesses recounted events of a great man-hunt.

In a fog of tear gas, ex-Convict William Henry Knight, 39, met a violent end after a posse surrounded the home of a PWA worker, a former employee of Knight, last evening and Assistant Police Chief Jack Duggan sent a bullet crashing into the fugitive's head. Knight died several hours later in a hospital.

The final of the exciting three-day hunt came in the little dwelling of James Gilligan, who with his wife and two small children were held captive by Knight.

Knight returned to Butte yesterday morning and went to the Gilligan home. Gilligan was at work, but his wife, Hazel, and two children, David, 5, and Hazel, 2, were kept under Knight's gun all day. Gilligan returned home for dinner and also was made a captive.

Later, the Gilligans asked Knight to be allowed to take the children to the town's grandmother. Knight consented, and the mother and father notified police.

Knight told Mrs. Gilligan he killed a Seattle policeman (Deputy Thomas Meahan) on Nov. 13; two people in Butte (Officer Thomas O'Neill and Frank Walsh, 24-year-old store executive on Christmas day) and a man in southern Montana (Floyd Woods, ranch foreman whose body was found in the swirling Madison river yesterday).

"The call has come—a clarion call that should ring in the ears of every true American, for the issues involved are no longer partisan ones," Hatfield said.

The New Deal, he declared, "is slipping faster at the present moment than it has at any time in the last year."

MAHAFFIE NAMED ICC CHAIRMAN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28. (AP)—Charles D. Mahaffie was elected chairman of the interstate commerce commission today to succeed Hugh M. Tate, Tennessee Republican.

Mahaffie, 51, a Democrat, will serve as chairman for one year under the commission's rotation plan. He was appointed to the ICC by President Hoover in 1930.

Dog Has Appetite For Finances; He Eats $625 Stock

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (AP)—An extra-legal stock transaction by a dog with an appetite for financial dabbling was, in effect, subject to review today.

Jack, the chow dog of John E. Biggins, president of the Flatbush National Bank, "did chew, gnaw, eat and otherwise destroy" 25 shares of stock in the Bank of Suffolk County, Justice Albert Conway was informed yesterday in supreme court.

Justice Conway served an order directing the bank to issue duplicate certificates of the stock, valued at $625, to Biggins.

MRS. GLAB IS CONVICTED OF FORGING CHENEY WILL

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 28. (AP)—Mrs. Hazel Belford Glab, flaxen-haired widow, planned today an appeal from her conviction of forging a will of the late Albert Cheney, who left a $400,000 estate.

She was remanded to jail to await sentence Jan. 2 to a possible prison term of two to 14 years, but her attorney announced he would file an appeal if a new trial motion is denied.

An all-man jury returned the guilty verdict late yesterday, based on the prosecution's charge that Mrs. Glab altered the writing on a piece of paper bearing Cheney's signature and inserted a provision naming herself beneficiary.

Her friend, Mrs. Clara Steeger, a witness to the will, was acquitted of forging charges but convicted of preparing false evidence. She faces a possible term of one to five years.

Mrs. Glab contended Cheney dictated the document to her and signed it in her presence. Shortly after, she testified, they went to Las Vegas, Nev., to be married, but she died last March before the ceremony could be performed.

HAS $165,000 IN POCKET!

Auditor Banks Not Worried

City Auditor Lloyd Banks put on his top coat, settled his hat comfortably on his head, lighted a cigarette and stepped out of the courthouse. He walked south and east through the business section of the city to the city hall.

No one noticed anything unusual about his bearing or manner. No one molested him.

When he reached his office in the city hall, he took off his top coat and hat and hung them up. Then he removed from an inside pocket and placed on his desk the sum of $165,000.

Mr. Banks did not even breathe a sigh of relief when he had conveyed the small fortune safely to his headquarters. He went simply about the business of apportioning the money to the various city funds where it belonged.

When that was done, he made the proper deposits in the bank. The money, in the form of checks, represents a portion of the first half of this year's city taxes. Since the county collects taxes for the city of Santa Ana, Mr. Banks secured the money from the county tax collector.

In addition to city taxes, the $165,000 includes street assessments, acquisition and improvement district taxes, payments to the city for clearing weeds from vacant lots, and other similar tax payments.

FUNDS FOR PARK SET TRIAL FOR PROJECT HERE

Money for the Santiago creek park project received today at the Orange County Works Progress administration headquarters will enable 272 workmen to return to their jobs Tuesday. Manager Dan Mulherson announced today.

Work on the project was halted Thursday when additional funds failed to arrive for continuance of the work. Only two days' lay-off will be caused by the temporary halt, Saturday not being a WPA work day.

Mr. Mulherson Friday requested district officials to set up the $24,000 provided for the project so the work could be continued. This morning he said he would straighten the matter out, "if he had to go to San Francisco to do it." Two hours later the order authorizing the expenditure arrived.

The county unit of the project is a part of a three-way job along Santiago creek, the cities of Santa Ana and Orange being the other sponsors.

CALL SOUNDED BY HATFIELD

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28. (AP)—The 1936 Presidential campaign is "on" for San Francisco Republicans today.

Lt. Gov. George J. Hatfield fired the opening shot in an address, by proxy, last night before GOP leaders and several hundred partisans. He pleaded for united action to dislodge the New Deal in the next elections.

The lieutenant governor was unable to be present because of a slight illness. His address was read by Walter A. Dold, president of the Republican Central club.

"The call has come—a clarion call that should ring in the ears of every true American, for the issues involved are no longer partisan ones," Hatfield said.

The New Deal, he declared, "is slipping faster at the present moment than it has at any time in the last year."

C. C. WILL TAKE UP PARKING

The chamber of commerce board of directors will meet Monday morning at 9 o'clock in the chamber offices, it was announced today by Secretary Howard I. Wood.

A proposed new system for controlling the parking problem in Santa Ana will be discussed, and plans to obtain a branch office of the state motor vehicle department for Santa Ana will be talked over, it was said.

Mr. Wood yesterday received a letter from the state motor vehicle department which said that in all probability such an office would be established here next year.

VOTE LONG ROBES

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 28. (AP)—Judicial fashion note: Gowns will be just four inches from the ground in 1936. Los Angeles county judges, who will don the formal court garb for the first time after New Year's day, voted in favor of long robes yesterday.

CHINESE IS SUICIDE

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 28. (AP)—Gambling losses caused James Low, 36, San Francisco Chinese, to take his life, police said today. His body was found hanging from a window curtain rod in his apartment.

RIVERSIDE WOULD CHANGE ELECTION

RIVERSIDE, Dec. 28. (AP)—A radical change in the method of electing county supervisors is recommended in a report of the Riverside grand jury. The jurors suggested amendment of the state law so as to permit election of one supervisor-at-large. The county's five supervisors are now chosen from separate districts.

Under the method suggested, counties would have a governmental plan resembling that of mayor and council in cities, the supervisor-at-large serving as chairman of the board.

Brick Dust

Here and There With The Journal's
Rambling County Editor

By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

SAM MEYER, down at Newport, has assailed our dignity. Or something.

In his "Newport News" Sam says thusly:

"Judging of Christmas lighting by county editors Monday night has a peculiar slant. The night was full of fog, and about midnight ye scribes, guided by Doc Huston, got Eddie Moore out of bed and wanted to find some more trees to judge. By that time lighted tree contestants had doused the glims and retired. Did the fog obscure their vision or did the fog befog their profundity? And when did they get home?"

We're in a position to set Sam right on the subject, as we were along on that trip. We'll start at the end of his attack, and work backwards.

"When did they get home?" he asks. Can't vouch for other newspaper editors, because they dropped us at the office, but, in our own case, it was time to feed the chickens by the time the family fire-side loomed up out of the fog.

Did the fog obscure our vision or befog our profundity? That's what he asks. We know that Sam's a good speller, or we'd think he meant "profanity." Editors aren't profound. And, that fog was so thick—we found ourselves judging hot dog stands a couple of times, before Doc Huston put us right.

And, as for anyone waking up Eddie Moore, if we'd known that the doctor was asking him about more trees, when he returned to his car he'd probably have found it vacant, and two perfectly good editors and one county editor would have been seen thumbing rides back to Santa Ana. By the time we hit Newport, everyone was sleepy and sort of blurry from the fog. It was fun, however.

And, anyway, weekly editors are going to judge next year. We hope Sam's one of the dignitaries. We'll hope for another foggy night and follow him for two or three hours and see how soon he's "befogged."

However, the Christmas lights along the coastline are still burning. It's more than worth the trip to see 'em. If you aren't in the market for a long ride, drop down to Huntington Beach, anyway. If they stand Main street up on end, it'd look like a two-block-high tree, it's so well decorated.

Erroneous impressions!

Doesn't that sound nice?

The state fish and game commission has made a statement to correct some of 'em. That's why we got to wondering about erroneous impressions. After numbing the two words to oneself a while, it begins to sound like the 6:40, an hour behind schedule, passing through a tunnel.

Anyway, the impressions the commission wishes to correct are regarding fishing, and licenses. Mostly the latter. Lots of fishermen think they must buy separate licenses for angling in the ocean and the mountains. Wrong, says the commission. One'll do for both.

So, all anglers, wishing to angle, will buy only the one. However, officials point out that ocean fishermen must cough up $2 this coming year, unless they expect to catch mackerel or smelt, or some other less desirable of the sea-going breakfasts. The new patrol boat'll get 'em if they don't!

The subject of fish makes us think of the subject of seals. Ever since Don White's blast about the darlings of Laguna, the barkers who bask on the rocks and lure sightseers, we've been expecting some word from enemies of the animals, hoping that some Newport Beacher would take up the argument.

Things we've heard from fishermen down there lead us to believe that they don't like seals. We still understand they're old nannies—the seals—but no one seems to want to take the side of the mistreated mackerel which the barkers are supposed to catch when they're tired of eating and heave 'em in the air.

Don says that all a fish can do is look sad, while a seal can bark and balance a ball on his nose and do lots of other things. How about it, fishermen? Can't you stand up for your smelt and halibut and tomcod?

PIANO PUPILS ENTERTAINED AT MIDWAY CITY

MIDWAY CITY.—An interesting holiday event was the party given by Mrs. K. F. Beno recently honoring her piano pupils. A treasure hunt for gifts was the highlight of the afternoon's entertainment.

Present were Betty June Williamson, Doris Jean Foley, Ruth and Mildred Robertson, Muriel Furry, Robert Prichard, Jean Fraser and Eugene and Shirley Davies.

ENTER SECOND DAY OF MIDWINTER REGATTA AT NEWPORT

EVENT WILL CONTINUE SUNDAY

'Hook' Beardslee Takes Star Race; Winners Are Announced

NEWPORT HARBOR.—Leading yachtsmen of the Pacific coast entered the second day of the three-day midwinter regatta here today with H. L. "Hook" Beardslee, International Star boat champion, and Bill Slater, youthful sixteen-meter class expert, taking feature roles in opening events yesterday afternoon.

The regatta, celebrating completion of the $2,000,000 harbor dredging project, will continue through tomorrow, it has been announced, with a New Year's dance slated for the Newport Harbor Yacht club Tuesday evening.

Over a five-mile course, traversed twice, young Slater's "Lanai" won in 2 hours, 36 minutes and 13 seconds in the sixteen-meter competition. Two minutes astern was William Bartholomae's "Mystery," trailed by the sloops "Aysayay," "Gallant" and "Naiad." "Ripples" did not finish.

Beardslee's "By-C" was easy victor in the star class in 1:59:19. He won by four minutes over "Modena," piloted by his erstwhile crewman, Myron Lehman.

Puck Dowsett of Pearl Harbor Yacht club, Honolulu, sailed "Procyon" to third. There were 10 starters.

Nicholas Potter, well-known designer, edged out the Stewart brothers, William L. and Arthur, in the dinghy class contests.

CHURCH TOPICS ANNOUNCED

WINTERSBURG.—The topic of the Sunday morning sermon at the Methodist church will be "The Christ-Spent Life," and J. A. Murdy, Jr., will sing a solo. The subject of the talk at the evening service will be "Christ and the Present Day World." The Rev. Archie Matson, former pastor of the church, will be present Sunday morning to greet old friends.

New Year's eve members of the Epworth league will join with the county league in a watch-meeting, to be held at the First Methodist church of Santa Ana, under direction of James McGiffen.

Sea Scouts of Orangeview and Wintersburg will join the Orange county Sea Scouts in a boat trip Saturday afternoon under supervision of Skipper Bartlett.

MRS. WEBER OF ORANGE DIES

ORANGE.—Mrs. Margaret Weber, 82, died at her home, 413 East Maple street, Friday, after having been in failing health since July.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. G. G. Beckman; three grandchildren, Mrs. Emil Lemke, Mrs. Arthur Schlueter and Paul Beckman, all of Orange, and three great grandchildren, Marilyn and LeRoy Lemke and Kenneth Schlueter.

A prayer service will be held at the Shannon funeral home, 1:45 p. m., Monday with funeral services at St. John's Lutheran church at 2 p. m. Burial will be in Fairhaven cemetery.

WESTMINSTER BOY SCOUTS TAKE HOLIDAY HIKE

WESTMINSTER.—As a holiday activity, members of the Westminster Boy Scout troop recently went on a hiking trip to Saddleback mountain. The first part of the trip was made by automobile, but a round trip hike of 14 miles was included in the day's program.

The boys were accompanied by Claude Hardesty, Wilfred Threder and Bill Vail.

KATHERINE SUMNER IS HONORED AT ORANGE PARTY

ORANGE.—Miss Katherine Ferne Sumner was honored guest at a dinner party last night, given by Miss Elizabeth Palmer, at the home of her mother, Mrs. Amy Palmer, North Orange street.

Miss Sumner will become the bride of Edwin P. Case on New Year's day. Gifts were also presented to the honoree by the hostess and Miss Patricia Oliphant, Santa Ana, Mrs. Glen Gossett, Fullerton and Miss Ferne Sumner, Orange.

STAR CHAMPION WINS AGAIN

H. L. "Hook" Beardslee's famous "By-C," in which he won the International Star boat trophy for the second year last summer, and which he piloted to another victory yesterday at Newport Beach in the midwinter regatta now in progress inside the $2,000,000 county harbor.

REV. MINCK HONORED AT ORANGE FAREWELL RITES

ORANGE.—A farewell reception to their pastor, the Rev. Franklin H. Minck, was given by members of the Christian church in the lower auditorium of the church last evening.

Other ministers of the city were special guests, and spoke with regret at losing the Rev. Minck from the community. He will take up his duties as pastor of a Long Beach church Jan. 1, after serving here for seven years.

Games were played under direction of Mrs. Walter Kogler, and a program was given, arranged by Mrs. Leon Des Larzes. A violin ensemble, including Helen Jacobs, Martha Jean Atherton, Lola June Moehey, Dorothy Windbigler and Eileen Parks, played a melody of Christmas airs, accompanied by Ellen Atherton and June Windbigler. A vocal obligato was sung by members of the Christian church in the lower auditorium of the church last evening.

BODY FOUND ON BEACH

Authorities Attempt To Identify Man Cast Ashore By Waves

SEAL BEACH.—Every effort is being made by county and city authorities to identify the body of a man washed ashore at Twenty-first street here yesterday afternoon. S. G. Ward, 2012 Bay Lane avenue, Seal Beach, discovered the body as he was walking along the beach.

The body is that of a man between 27 and 35 years, five feet seven inches in height, about 170 pounds in weight and his hair is long and dark.

He was wearing a black belt with silver buckle and the initials "J." A gold pencil, $1 bill, fish hooks were found in his pockets. The body is at the Dixon mortuary at Huntington Beach awaiting identification. Herman Zabel, Orange county identification bureau, has taken fingerprints of the man in an effort to identify him.

PARTY HELD BY GROVE CLASS

GARDEN GROVE.—A Christmas party was held by members of the Kings Daughters' Sunday school class of the Baptist church Thursday afternoon when they met at the home of their mother, Mrs. Conrad Oertley, on North Euclid avenue.

Mrs. C. K. Lee presided at a business meeting, in the absence of the president, Mrs. W. V. Frink, who is ill. Following devotions, led by Mrs. Oertley, a chapter from the study book was read by Mrs. William Lehnhardt. Readings were given by Mrs. P. S. Virgin and Mrs. Mary Tolkein.

After a gift exchange, members gave their teacher a Christmas gift. Present were Mesdames C. K. Lee, P. S. Virgin, Addie Gleason, P. M. German, William Lehnhardt, E. A. Leamy, Hattie Clark, Margaret Beardslee, Harriet Wright, Fanny Garr, G. Hedstrom, Margaret Riley, Mary Tolkein, J. G. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. John Croughan and the hostess and her sister, Mrs. Rose Bohnerberger and daughter, Mrs. Ed Egli, Kreka.

REBEKAH GROUP HAS MEETING

ORANGE.—Past Noble Grands of the Rebekah lodge met in the I. O. O. F. hall yesterday afternoon for a Christmas party and exchange of gifts. Gifts were also presented to "mystery sisters" in the organization.

A short program was presented, consisting of a reading by Mrs. Edith Kessel, a vocal solo by Miss Nora Edwards, and Misses Dorothy Pister and Mabel Larson acting as Santa Claus in the gift distribution.

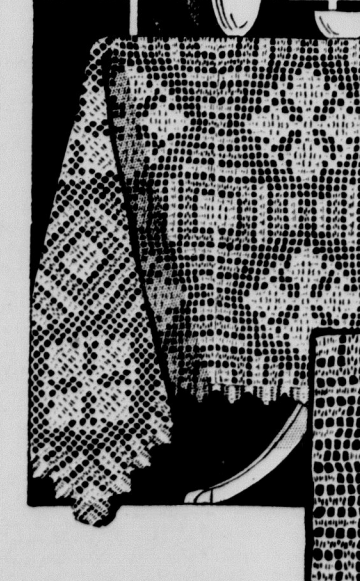

Hostesses were Mrs. Sarah Lawson, Mrs. Fannie Barker, Mrs. Anna Christianson, Mrs. Kathleen Pister, and Miss Nora Edwards. Guests were Mrs. Mabel Noonan, Mrs. Mina Swenson and Miss E. Helen Prentiss.

CROCHETING TOMORROW'S HEIRLOOM

PATTERN 5417

Just a bit at a time—that's the way a lovely luncheon or dinner-cloth grows when you crochet it this easy way. It all begins by your crocheting a simple square—then another—and another, until you've a half dozen or so to join together. Perchance you'll decide to make a dresser scarf, a buffet or vanity set, or a nice square cloth to throw over the bridge table when refreshments are served. Make the squares of string—a large square measures 9 inches—or use finer cotton for a smaller one. You'll love and cherish these bits of handwork—always!

In pattern 5417 you will find complete instructions and charts for making the square shown; an illustration of it and of the stitches needed; material requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred to The Journal, Household Arts Dept., 117 E. Fifth, Santa Ana.

BASKETFUL OF DOG TEAM

Akutan, pack dog on the Alaskan exploration expeditions of the "glacier priest," Father Bernard Hubbard, S. J., is shown with her all-male litter of seven puppies born at the San Jose, Calif., home of Ed Levin, companion of Father Hubbard on his trips. They will make a complete dog team when they're older—six wheelers and a lead. That the pups are all male is also unusual. Their sire was "Wolf," a sled dog with a three-quarter wild strain. ## FULLERTON P. O. RISE TOLD FULLERTON.—As a result of handling the most mail since 1930, the Fullerton postoffice has again received a first class rating, it has been announced by Postmaster R. S. Gregory.

The change from second to the first division will take place Jan. 1, according to Postmaster Gregory, who said that the local office, at one time in the first division, slipped to second when mail receipts dropped off during the depression.

ANAHEIM LIONS HEAR REPORTS

ANAHEIM.—Members of the Anaheim Lions club heard reports of progress of the group through the past year and plans for the coming 12 months at a regular meeting held here yesterday noon.

Robert Rossberg, new telephone company manager here, was inducted into the club by S. E. Hilgenfeld.

VILLA PARK HOME SCENE OF PARTY

VILLA PARK.—A dinner honoring Bob Deupree, Silverado canyon, on his birthday anniversary, was given by Miss Dorothy Flint-ham Thursday evening at the home of her mother, Mrs. Helen Billingsley-Anthony.

Dancing and bridge were diversions of the evening. Other guests were Willard Reed, U. S. marine base, La Jolla; Bill Billingsley, Glendale; Paul Wright, Santa Ana; Leo Caspar, Lysa Ayer, Eleanor Flintham, Harriet Clark, Rachel Lamb, Miriam Powell and Dorothy Stade.

G. G. STAR HAS YULE MEETING

GARDEN GROVE.—Members of Garden Grove chapter, Order of Eastern Star, enjoyed a Christmas party at the regular chapter meeting held in K. of P. hall in Anaheim Thursday evening. Visiting matrons, Henrietta Bohling, of Hermosa chapter and Flora Bruns, Santa Ana chapter, and Ethel Schauer and Ernest Fulson, junior past matron and junior past patron of Garden Grove, were escorted to the east.

As a Christmas gift to Worthy Matron Alice T. Smith, Worthy Patron Carlisle J. Clark gave her a leather brief case.

Dr. Donald R. E. Waters was in charge of the program and presented Harold Lutes, Santa Ana, who played cornet numbers, accompanied at the piano by his sister, Jeanette, and Dr. L. S. Aubin, of Santa Ana, who entertained with magic tricks.

Refreshments of cake and coffee were served in the dining room at tables decorated with miniature Christmas trees, bowls of bright colored Christmas balls and red tapers. The committee in charge of arrangements was headed by Mrs. Mignon Waters.

ASK BIDS FOR BREAKWATER

SEAL BEACH.—Bids for the $82,000 breakwater to be constructed at the entrance to the Anaheim Landing will be opened by the city council, Jan. 2.

The city is at present having a new sewage disposal system built and plans are completed for construction of a municipal water system at a cost of about $30,000.

SEAT SECRETARY OF ORANGE O. E. S.

ORANGE.—The regular meeting of the Scepter chapter O. E. S., was held Thursday night in the Masonic hall, with the newly elected secretary, Mrs. Myrtle Bay, installed. Mrs. Bay was unable to be present at the regular installation two weeks ago, when other officers of the organization were seated.

ELECT BURRY AS CHAMBER PRESIDENT

Huntington Beach Group Has Annual Session; Directors Chosen

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—D. E. Burry, manager of the American States Water company here, was unanimously re-elected president of the Huntington Beach chamber of commerce at the annual election held in the chamber offices last night.

Dr. L. F. Whittaker was re-elected first vice president; S. H. White, second vice president, to replace Victor Terry. J. Sherman Denny will again be treasurer and W. H. Gallienne will remain as secretary.

Both Dr. Whittaker and A. W. Frost were nominated for president by the nominating committee, but both declined.

A straw ballot was taken to determine the new officers of the board. N. M. Blaney and W. S. Ebert received the highest votes and are directors 24 and 25, respectively. At the annual election of directors there was a tie between Mr. Blaney, Mr. Ebert, R. C. Turner and Fred Pickering for the two places.

MESA IS SCENE OF REUNION

COSTA MESA.—Old friends met in a happy reunion at the annual banquet and dance sponsored by the Newport Harbor Union High School Alumni association last night. The gala affair was held at the Costa Mesa Friday afternoon clubhouse, with clubwomen serving the dinner.

Bill Brown, president of the association, presided, and Roy Stafford, recently returned from a two months' trip to Honolulu, told of his travels. John Gillis was in charge of program arrangements.

Everett Rea, advisor, and Sidney H. Davidson, principal of the high school, spoke.

Among former high school students who are home from their respective colleges for the holiday vacation attending were Mary Jane Sturgeon, College of Commerce, U. S. C.; Dale Blue, College of Pharmacy, U. S. C.; William McDonald, Berkeley; Margaret Hoefner, College of Letters and Sciences, U. C. at Berkeley; Ardith Lowe, and Eleanor Brooks, Whittier College and Judson Sutherland and Jerry Keithley, College of the Pacific.

PLAN ANAHEIM P. O. RITES

ANAHEIM.—Plans for cornerstone and dedication ceremonies for the new Anaheim postoffice have been announced here, with a tentative date set for Jan. 11, with members of the Masonic lodge to be in charge.

Community organizations will be asked to contribute material which will be sealed in the cornerstone of the building, now under construction on Broadway between Los Angeles and Lemon streets.

Postmaster Harry Whittaker, Mayor Charles H. Mann and George Reid, chamber of commerce secretary, requested A. P. M. Brock, worshipping master of the local Masonic lodge, to take charge of the ceremonies, which will open at 1:30 p. m.

Mustang Kicker

By FRANK ROGERS

"Big Maurice Orr and his precious right foot, manufacturers of 37 points in the first 11 games, punched footballs over the cross bar from all angles today as South, Southern Methodist's Mustangs stopped here for a workout."

Scarcely had our observations of yesterday's game been made than Coach Bell's eyes told us that this story was not over. The Associated Press wires from Tucson, Ariz. Yesterday we went to the point out that Monk Moscrip and his celebrated foot could easily be the deciding factor over Southern Methodist.

We thought so much of Monk—and the chances that he would see at least some action—that we installed the Indians as our favorites in the Rose Bowl clash on New Year's day.

Then this report comes along. Coach Matty Bell has a field goal kicker of his own, it seems.

The heartless Associated Press goes on to tear down our carefully built-up reasoning.

"His placement kicking may be the difference when the Mustangs collide with Stanford. From the 40-yard line and closer, the 211-pound tackle blasted his unerring kicks. His five field goals and 22 points after touchdown this season, tops the performance of Stanford's ace kicker, Monk Moscrip, all-America end."

Wow! Now what? We had very strongly decided that Coach Tiny Thornhill could stuff Moscrip into the game at a crucial moment, have him boot a field goal and come home with the bacon. Simple, like.

"Orr might win that game for us," mused Coach Bell, so the story reads. "But Moscrip might win that game for Stanford too—if they get close," he says.

"Orr can kick consistently from the 35-yard line on down to the goal line, but seldom attempts a kick from outside the 25-yard stripe."

The scribes couldn't pin Bell down to any outright prediction but they did get one guess you might do well to cast an eye at. Ray Morrison, who once led the Southern Methodist circus, and now coach at Vanderbilt, comes up with this one:

"Southern Methodist, 23; Stanford, 13."

Morrison figures three Mustang touchdowns, with bounding Bob Wilson at his best, and a field goal and two points after touchdown by Orr.

There's a very pertinent observation on this page today by Clark D. Shaughnessy, Chicago university coach.

Shaughnessy makes a bid to have alumni and fans adopt a "saner football viewpoint."

He wants the game "kept human" but most of all he wants the blame for "losing teams" removed from the coaches.

"Coaches are no more responsible for football players failing in football than other instructors are for students failing in other subjects," says he.

Correct, Mr. Shaughnessy. But thousands of fans do not pay cash money to see astrology classes in action and frenzied fans do not yell their lungs out when a bright student makes an "A" in psychology.

But they do put money on the line to see how the boys in the "football class" are getting along and it's only human nature that if part of them fail—or the entire class is a flop—that some of the blame falls on the head of their instructor. It's part of a football coach's job to produce, Mr. Shaughnessy, and it's no use trying to get the public to let you put on a front and pose as mere instructors. You would hide behind your players, wouldn't you?

Change In Slow Whistle Is Only Major Ruling Up For Discussion

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (AP)—The National Collegiate A. A. went on record today in favor of American participation in the Olympic games at Berlin next summer and urged its constituent members to lend "generous financial support" to the American team.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (AP)—Elimination of the disputed "slow whistle" ruling of 1935 is the only change in the gridiron code planned by the national football rules committee, its annual report to the National Collegiate Athletic Association disclosed today.

The report, presented by Chairman Walter Oakes of Lehigh, pointed out the members felt a year ago that no major changes were required and that nothing has arisen to make action necessary when the committee meets at Palm Springs, Cal., Feb. 14 to 16.

Other changes called for were the so-called slow whistle ruling, embodied in a supplementary note to rule 7, section 7—the section that defines a dead ball—has served its purpose of making coaches "lateral pass conscious," Oakes said.

He declared that since there is a fairly pronounced sentiment against it, the rules would be better without it. There is no evidence, he added, to support the contention that this note is responsible for increased injuries.

The note, as carried in this year's rules, says: "A runner who is on his feet even though he is held by an opponent may run, pass or kick until the whistle is blown."

Feared 'Piling Up' When it was put into the rules, it was indicated that its purpose was to make lateral passing possible when a player was tackled in an open field and that the referee should delay blowing the whistle until the progress of the ball was clearly halted.

In many cases officials, fearing "piling up" on the runner and consequent injuries, disregarded the suggestion.

Other changes that have been suggested come largely from isolated occurrences and are not vital to the game, the report said.

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 28. (AP)—Bald-headed Dick Welch, 23-year-old featherweight from Philadelphia, captured the fancy of film city fans with his boxing, but dropped an unpopular decision to Midget Wolgast, another Philadelphia.

ROOKIE CY BLANTON LEADS MAJOR LEAGUE FLINGERS

NEW YORK, Dec. 28. (AP)—For the first time in National league history a "freshman" flinger is league leader on the basis of earned runs allowed per nine-inning game.

The rookie is Darrell (Cy) Blanton, Pittsburgh Pirates, whose average for the 1935 season was 2.59.

Only twice in recent years have new comers crashed into the top place. Lonnie Warneke, Cuba, topped the earned run records in 1932, his first season as a regular. Paul Derringer, in his first year with the Cardinals, led in games won and lost in 1931.

Blanton, who had pitched only eight innings of major league ball before 1935, surpassed the feats of such aces as Carl Hubbell, Glendon, leader for 1933 and 1934, and Bill Swift, Pittsburgh, Hal Schumacher, New York, and Larry French and Bill Lee, Chicago, who took the next four places in order.

Blanton also registered four shutouts, tying for first place, and chalked up a total of 143 strikeouts, comparing well with Dizzy Dean's league-leading total of 182. The Pirates' rookie also gained the largest number of sacrifice hits, 24.

Lee led the flingers on the won-and-lost basis with 20 victories and six losses, while Blanton was pitched, won 26 games and faced 1365 batters, who made 326 hits off his delivery.

14 STATES DECREASE TRAFFIC DEATHS FROM 7 TO 22 PER CENT

NATION'S CUT LAST MONTH IS 12 PCT.

Fatalities For Entire Year
Put By Safety Council
At 35,500

CHICAGO, Dec. 28. (AP)—Fourteen states decreased automobile deaths in the first 11 months of 1935 from 7 to 22 per cent, the National Safety Council reported today.

Demonstrating the effectiveness of the year's concentrated safety program in saving lives, the council reported a 12 per cent national reduction in deaths for the months of November, which, if maintained in December, would mean a 35,500 total for 1935.

The all-time high deaths from traffic accidents—36,000—was established last year.

3269 in November
In November, 3269 persons died as a result of motor vehicle accidents, the council reported, compared with 3710 in November, 1934. Although deaths dropped, gasoline consumption figures indicated a 6 per cent increase in travel.

For the first 11 months of the year, E. L. Forney, council statistician, reported 32,140 traffic deaths, a 1 per cent reduction from the 32,463 in the same period of 1934.

North Dakota Best
North Dakota with a reduction of 22 per cent led all other states in the campaign to diminish fatalities. Enlisted in the council's campaign are 41 states, the District of Columbia and 65 cities.

The other states to achieve or better in the first 11 months the council's objective of a 7 per cent reduction were: Massachusetts and Mississippi, 19; Rhode Island, 18; Oregon and the District of Columbia, 16; Wyoming and Delaware, 13; Illinois and Montana, 12; Utah and Minnesota, 11; Florida, 9; Oklahoma, 7.

LIFE IN 1935 9. Year Sees Cut In Public Enemy List

By HERBERT YAHRAES
Associated Press Staff Writer

"G-men" and gunmen wiped out most of the old crop of public enemies during 1935.

John Smith read the crime headlines of the year with a growing feeling of security as peace officers "mopped up," leaving only three major criminals of the old order on the "wanted list."

Fred Barker, wanted for the Bremer kidnaping, was killed in a blaze of machine gun bullets from department of justice agents in Florida. Trapped with him and killed during the six-hour battle was "Ma" Barker, no model for Mother's day.

Raymond Hamilton, ace bad man of the southwest, died in the electric chair in Texas.

Dutch Schultz Killed
Walter Legenza and Robert Mais, murderers, escaped convicts, members of the tri-state gang, died in the electric chair, Virginia.

Dutch Schultz (Arthur Flegenheimer), ex-New York beer baron and racketeer, died in a Newark hospital after a spatter of gunmen's bullets. Three of his henchmen also died in the brief gang battle.

John Paul Chase, buddy of the late "Baby Face" Nelson, got life for the killing of a "G-man," several members of the Barker-Karpis gang went to prison, various underworld small fry, especially in New York, were shot, stabbed, strangled or burned to death.

The year-end found Alvin Karpis, "Public Enemy No. 1," virtually the only former big shot gangster still at large. He's wanted for the kidnaping of Edward G. Bremer, the murder of a Missouri sheriff, many robberies.

Also widely sought were Thomas Robinson, Jr., and William Mahan, implicated in kidnapings. Robinson, who has eluded capture for more than a year, is wanted for the abduction of Mrs. Berry V. Sall in Louisiana.

Single Big Kidnaping
Mahan is charged with having engineered 1935's only major snatch. George Weyerhaeuser, 9, was abducted in Tacoma, Wash., late in May, released eight days later 25 miles from his home. Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Waley soon were caught in Utah. Waley pleaded guilty, was sentenced less than a month after the crime to 45 years. Mrs. Waley, not permitted to plead guilty, was tried, given 20 years.

While John Smith read about only one big new kidnaping, as compared with three in 1934 and almost a dozen in 1933, the shadow of the Lindbergh case fell large across the year. Convicted in February, in the year's most spectacular trial, of the kidnap-murder of the Lindbergh baby, Bruno Richard Hauptmann was

The guns that gangland turned against its own and the guns of peace officers cut deeply into the crime ranks during the year, left only a few of the older public enemies alive and still at large.

Re-Enter Business

CHICAGO, Dec. 28. (AP)—Samuel Insull, once head of a two-billion dollar public utilities empire, just can't leave electricity alone, his friends said today.

The 76-year-old power magnate recently has emerged from voluntary retirement into which he retreated after acquittal on state and federal charges of conspiracy in connection with the bankruptcy of some of his utilities companies.

Insull Won't Talk
Some of his former associates hinted he would head a new radio chain in the Middle-West.

Insull again assumed his former sphinxlike attitude and refused to deny or affirm the reports. "I have been considering many different businesses," he said, "and there is nothing I can say now. My plans are too indefinite."

No Stock To Public
La Salle street reports said the proposed chain would be capitalized at $100,000, but that no stock would be offered to the public.

The suggested combination has been given the tentative name of the Affiliated Broadcasting company and would include at least 15 small stations of 100 to 500 watt power in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa and Wisconsin.

FINGERPRINTS FIX IDENTITY OF DEAD MAN

Fingerprints of a man known only as George Thompson, who died at Orange county hospital Dec. 16 from ulcers, yesterday resulted in establishment of his identity.

The prints, taken by Herman Zabel, head of the bureau of identification of the sheriff's office, were sent to the war department in Washington. Yesterday, Mr. Zabel received a reply to his letter.

"The fingerprints are identical with those of Glenn E. Tompkins," the letter read. "Mr. Tompkins enlisted in the army March 26, 1914, in Ohio. He served until May 1, 1919, and re-enlisted in 1930, being discharged in 1932. He again re-enlisted in June, 1932, in San Francisco, and was discharged Jan. 8, 1935. He re-enlisted Jan. 17 at Fort McDowell, Calif., and deserted May 1. It is believed he has a sister living in Lansing, Mich."

Mr. Tompkins' body is at Shanley mortuary, Orange, awaiting funeral arrangements. For contact Mr. Tompkins' sister are being made by the sheriff's office.

KENNEL CLUB MEET TO DRAW AUXILIARY

American Legion auxiliary members have been urged to attend the final meeting of the year of the Santa Ana Kennel club next Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Legion hall.

Mrs. George Sullivan, chairman of the club, will give her final report on the recent dog show.

Students Tell Unpardonable Sins In Wives

SEATTLE, Dec. 28. (AP)—Hitching up garters in public, drinking excessively and lip-kissing to excess are the three unpardonable sins in wives, a poll of University of Washington men students revealed today.

The poll was conducted by the Seattle Times after University of Washington co-eds had agreed with a recent Associated Press poll in Hollywood showing none of the interviewed girls could be happy with men who drank to excess, used a toothpick in public or talked about a shady past.

MAKES ANNUAL TRIP TO TOWN

Walt Cagle, 550 pounds and self-conscious, forces himself to make one trip a year to the city of Boaz, Ala., to get a pair of overalls and some heavy underwear. His visit has become such an event that this year he was greeted by a crowd of 4,000 and given the key to the city.

16,027 COUNTY FARMERS AT MEETINGS DURING 1935

An aggregate audience of 16,027 farmers in Orange county attended meetings, demonstrations and other affairs sponsored by the Agricultural Extension Service in the county during the past year, the annual extension report revealed today.

A total of 303 meetings were held during the year, including demonstration meetings, demonstration tours, project committee meetings, institutes and field days, farm center meetings and various miscellaneous meetings.

Virtually every agricultural branch in the county was represented by department activities of the extension service during the year, Farm Advisor Harold Wahlberg pointed out.

Cost studies were made of the principal agricultural products of the county, including valencia oranges, lemons, walnuts, lima beans, avocados, poultry and honey, covering a period of time ranging from seven to 10 years. Agricultural engineering research was carried out, including survey of pumping and power costs, tank construction, and a survey of comparative pumping costs between individual and mutually-owned plants.

Twenty-one 4-H clubs were in existence during the year, their activities ranging from farming to demonstrations, poultry and livestock breeding, and competitive meetings.

Each department of the service conducted its annual field day, or annual meeting, at which their individual problems were ironed out, besides the specialized research work done for them by the service.

The extension service also maintained the El Toro soil conservation demonstration area of 29,000 acres, made soil and water sur-

286 COUNTY COWS FOUND WITH T. B.

Inspectors Finish Job
Of Testing 12,382
Animals Here

Out of a total of 12,382 cows recently tested in Orange county, only 286 were found to have tuberculosis, J. H. Bower, Orange county livestock inspector, announced today. Sixteen federal veterinarians have been working with county inspectors on the tests for the past 30 days, Mr. Bower said.

Although this figure represents an increase in the percentage of tuberculosis cows in county herds, Mr. Bower said that the gain probably was due to the fact that the survey was more complete this year than previously.

Few Reactors
"These figures show a percentage of reactors of 2.3 per cent," Mr. Bower said. While this percentage is a little higher than other tests in recent years, it is probable that this increase is due to the unusual thoroughness of the survey made possible by placing 16 federal veterinarians in the field to aid local officials."

A total of 11,060 cows were tested in dairies and 248 "reactors"—cows with tuberculosis—were found; 1322 family-owned cows were tested and only 38 reactors found.

Reactors Branded
All reactors are immediately branded with the letter "T" on the left jaw, Mr. Bower said, and then appraised and removed from the herd. The milking barns, water troughs and feed racks are then thoroughly cleaned and disinfected. Owners of the condemned cattle are paid two-thirds of the appraised value—one-third paid by the state and one-third by the United States government.

Mr. Bower reported "full cooperation" with cattle raisers. "With the exception of six owners of family cows, no objections were raised regarding the test, and full cooperation was extended to the veterinarians by the local dairymen," he said. "That goes to show that the dairymen are anxious to produce milk from cows that are free from the tuberculosis."

Santa Ana Ebell 'Youngsters' Entertained at Traditional Holiday Dance

Peacock Room Festive for Occasion

College Group Swells Home Crowd; Smart Frocks in Evidence

Glittering Christmas decorations, scores of very smart new frocks, and hordes of those home from college added to the festivities last night in Ebell clubhouse Peacock room when Santa Ana Ebbels fete their "youngsters" of high school and college age at their annual holiday formal dance.

A silver Christmas tree on the stage, quantities of holly, cotoneaster and greenery around the room and a huge old-fashioned tree on the dance floor decorated the Peacock room.

Among the many pretty girls seen dancing were Miss Patty Rapp in black and white satin with gardenias... Miss Florence Liggett in national blue georgette with green georgette scarf and gardenias.

Many Lovely Gowns

Miss Jeanette Klatt in blue and green taffeta with green feather clip in her hair, and gardenias... Miss Margaret Munro in powder blue quilted taffeta with gardenias... Miss Betty Jane Moore in tangerine chiffon with wide ruffled hem and ruffled jacket.

Miss Ione Hoover in white satin with metallic accents and flowers in her hair... Miss Barbara Davis in cocktail blue taffeta period gown with gold Juliet cap... Miss Marian Brownridge in black crepe printed in blue flowers and gardenias in her hair.

Miss Geraldine Griffith in green taffeta... Miss Marge Sawyer in formal bright blue satin with gold belt... Miss Eloise Hickey, white crepe with beaded tunic... Miss Lorna Berry, her blonde hair accented by blue pebble crepe and gardenias.

Miss Elizabeth Downie in pale pink satin... Miss Elsie Walker in orange crepe with tulle and roses... Miss Mary Tuthill in powder blue crepe with fuchsia velvet straps... Miss Charlotte Mock in black crepe shot with cellophane threads, red belt and gardenias in her hair... Miss Betty Lee in national blue taffeta.

She Wears Coronet

Miss Janet Katt in red velvet with metallic accents and gardenias... Miss Kate Lillard, her blonde hair in a coronet coiffure, wearing blue metallic dress... Miss Prudence Roberts in white accented pleated satin with red flowers in her hair.

Miss Harriet Spicer in lavender taffeta with ermine muffs... Miss Dora Lloyd in blue velvet with metallic trim... Miss Lois Murray in period white moire taffeta... Miss Betty Dunton in sea-green taffeta with gardenias... Miss Barbara Dunton in black crepe with red velvet bodice.

Flowers in Hair

Miss Marian Hawk in black lace... Miss Doris McDonald in gray satin with rhinestone buttons... Miss Florence Turner in black crepe and silver metallic cloth... Miss Betty Smedley in black crepe with clips... Miss Mary Nau in black velvet with pink flower.

Miss Suranne Alexander in red taffeta... Miss Louise Moulton in silver metallic cloth... Misses Kate Lillard and Prudence Roberts fete some 22 of their friends with a pre-dance dinner party at the Country Club.

Miss Florence Liggett's home at 2323 Bonnie Brae was the scene of a gay dinner party for Misses Margaret Munro, Patty Rapp, Barbara Davis, Jean Klatt and their escorts, Bill Hixson, John Haskill, Art Nison, Bob McFadden and Joe Herbert.

Gives Supper Party
Miss Mary Tuthill entertained at her home on Victoria drive with a dinner party for Misses Betty Smedley, Elizabeth Downie, Mary Nau, Doris McDonald, Marian Hawk and Florence Turner and Norman Edwards, Frank Fullenweider, Lincoln Spaulding, Harry

DON'T THEY LOOK OPTIMISTIC?

Mrs. Victor M. Walker and her adorable young daughter, Sandra, seen above, are smiling happily as they look into 1936. It'll be Sandra's second year, she having celebrated her first birthday anniversary Dec. 19, and there are hundreds of exciting new experiences in store for her, we'll bet.

Swagger Off To a Good Start!

HOLLYWOOD—Take a tip from Ann Southern and have at least one swagger ensemble in wardrobe for spring!

In her current picture, "Money Mad," the Columbia star wears an outfit combining a one-piece frock over which a swagger coat, of two-third length, is worn. The dress of gray cashmere, is smart in its simplicity. Void of any trimming, it boasts a draped collar and long tight-fitting sleeves. Tiny tucks at the shoulder give width.

Black cashmere fashions the coat, with a flattering tuxedo collar of silver fox adding a luxurious note.

GUY GILBERT HOME GAY IN HOLIDAYS

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Gilbert's home on South Parton street was gay this week when a Christmas family dinner party was given, and again earlier in the week when Mrs. Gilbert's Fremont school faculty was fete by her at a bridge party.

Dinner guests were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gilbert, Miss Cora Kurrie, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Bassett and Miss Peggy Holloway.

Bridge party guests were Howard Paul and Mesdames Helen Abbey, Jessie Boyd, Evelyn Cray, Emma Dietrich and Alice Kiersey and Misses Mirrie Wilson, Boyd Joplin, Evelyn Herring and Ruth Smith.

Holles, John Dougherty, Arnold Lowman and Earl Motley.

A supper party was given after the dance by Miss Elizabeth Downie at her home on Santiago street for Miss Tuthill's guests and also Misses Susanne Alexander, Jean Nau, Doris McDonald, Marian Hawk and Florence Turner and Norman Edwards, Frank Fullenweider, Lincoln Spaulding, Harry

RECENTLY WEDDED

Mrs. Maxon Robinson, above, of San Bernardino was Miss Louise Rowland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Rowland, 338 West Nineteenth street, until Dec. 14 when she was married in a simple ceremony at L.verside. She has hosts of Santa Ana friends.

SCOUTS FROLIC AT CHRISTMAS PARTY

Girl Scouts of Troop No. 4 combined investiture services with a Christmas party yesterday afternoon at the First Methodist church.

Whippoorwill patrol under leader, Ruth Hawley, was in charge of events. They gave a play entitled "The Christmas Spirit" with a cast including Majorie Ball, Ruth Hawley, Ruanne Neighbour, Joyce Hubbard, Evelyn Owens, Doris Lorraine Faupel, and Ruth Ames, property custodian.

Tenderfoot pins were awarded by Mrs. R. R. Russick, guest of the afternoon, to Carol Buckett, Sarah Jean Burkett, Doris Faupel, Beverly Echols, Mary Jo Haskell, Betty Jane Monahan, Patsy Spaulding, Marjorie Ball and Doris Brown.

The Rev. Dr. George A. Warner was also a guest. A gift exchange was held and refreshments served.

JEFFERSON HAS HOLIDAY PROGRAM

Jefferson school children presented Christmas numbers on a program for the school Parent-Teacher association recently at the school.

Christmas songs were played by the school orchestra under S. J. Mustel. The three high grades gave a Christmas play and kindergarteners presented a skit, entitled "Santa Claus' Toy Shop," directed by Eleanor Crookshank.

Mrs. Helen Johnston's third grade students reviewed their study of Navajo Indians which has concerned them for the past semester.

Rachel Lamb Tells News on Holiday

Miss Rachel Lamb and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lamb of 1115 South Parton street carried excitement with them as they made their Christmas day calls on friends and relatives.

They broke the news of Miss Lamb's engagement to Leo F. Gaspar, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Gaspar, 933 Kileen drive. The wedding is planned for early spring.

Miss Lamb attended Santa Ana Junior college following her graduation from the Polonaise academy, Pomona. Her fiancé also attended the Santa Ana schools. He is employed in the Bank of America.

TEAPOT TATTLE

By ELLEN SNEBLEY

Better early than late, no? So the Tattler takes this, her last chance to wish you all a bang-up good New Year! (We'll take the happy part for granted, it's a bit on the platitudinous side.)

Which reminds us of the local matron who'd long been convinced people in receiving lines wear cast-iron smiles and murmur greetings all too automatically.

This enterprising woman passed from hand to hand along a big party line, smiling brightly and saying to each of the hostesses, "How do you do? My father just died today."

According to her story, each smiled cheerily back at her and replied, "How do you do?" We're sure she couldn't have put it over on you, you—or you, though.

Met, or encountered, a particularly darling dog, over on Sycamore street.
Name: Midgee, abbrev. for Midget.
Color: Cocoa.
Breed: Poodle for pekingese, if you please.

A word from my mistress, Ruth (Mrs. E. J.) Koller, and a tiny, straggly-haired Midgee will sit up, roll over into dust-mop formation or "speak." There really should be a pun about telling Midgee to: "Say peke-poo!"

Slightly intrigued to find that at least five attractive Santa Anans personally "solved" last week's little mystery as to the female who keeps an alibi list by her 'phone to regret party invitations. Seems we're not all as socially-minded as one would think.

Before we forget Christmas: Among clever cards seen the $366days of health's happiness check sent out by The Workman, the four-line poem printed on the tiny greeting card of Beulah May, and the satisfyingly modern watercolor salutation with the staff signature of Earl Fraser. I also the portrait of Harry Welch, which we saw, admired, but didn't receive.

Perhaps now's the best time to spruce up, for before every plump (and gal) gets it on the mind.

While the idea of the feminine element doing the serious "proposaling" seems at the outset a bit too thick, your Tattler strongly maintains that lots of very pretty and clever Santa Ana girls might not improve their work in the least if they took the tiniest advantage of 1936's prerogative, in modified form. Think it over. Perhaps she's wrong.

Best wishes to Bettie Timmons, whose recovery from an attack of pneumonia has been rapid, and is cause for rejoicing among her many friends. Bettie's stay at home has been a most pleasant one because of the grand new radio she received as a Christmas gift from Mrs. James Irvine.

Christmas and Jack McCarthy brought a bright new diamond to Marge Sawyer, who's properly thrilled—and who wouldn't be?

Today's Mental puzzle: What local couple had a crackup shortly before Thanksgiving, made up Thanksgiving week... and only this week, she was heard declaring she was "through with men?"

Mild sprinkle of rain brings to mind the large number of individuals who're planning to trek mountainward for the New Year's holiday. What could be more fun than an icy-cold hike, snow sports if there's any snow—and steaming hot coffee with plenty of food afterward?

And as to New Year's resolutions, here are a few we'd propose will be pretty generally applicable: Lots of people will surely swear they'll never touch that frightful stuff again... lots will vow never, ever to bet on football games again... or not ever to lose their tempers any more... or to get to work on time, or else! Let's let your Tattler urge you, one and all, to remember that society deadline daily is 9:30 o'clock, so resolve to call her often, please, and early!

New seen together: "Doc" Nall, son of the Dr. Hubert Nalls, and Lorna Berry. He very dark, and she delightfully blonde and pretty.

Here's sympathy for the young lady who bought a gift for a young man, discovered he couldn't stand that particular item, dashed

Gustlins in Audience at Concert

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gustlin of Santa Ana were privileged to be in the audience at an invitational concert, first offering of the Los Angeles federal music project Thursday evening in Los Angeles.

The concert's open performances began last night and are to continue this evening and tomorrow afternoon at 635 South Manhattan place, Hollywood.

Bruno David Ussher is director of the project, and Modest Altschuler is conducting the symphony orchestra. Interesting to the Santa Anans was the presentation of "American Fantasy" on the folk tune, "The Monkey Wedding." The composer is Harlow John Mills, whose quartet is appearing on the Sunday chamber music series of the Santa Ana Y. W. C. A.

A Negro chorus singing was another highlight of the concert, in which the symphony played for the first time in Los Angeles the Tchaikovsky overture to the opera "The Voyevode."

L. E. Behymer, Southland impresario, talked in the intermission on the value of the project to aid musicians.

back to the store and explained her troubles, and at the eleventh hour compromised on wearing apparel.

We hope the infant daughter of Wynn's Tommy Jentges will be as darling to look at and to know as Wynn.

Tonight the Pacific Coast club will be noisy with the patter of little feet of Sigma Tau Fals and the larger feet of their escorts, at their fifth annual Christmas formal dinner dance. Wish you were going?

Avery Johnson merits praise for the workmanship displayed in the smart new blue'n white nautical piece of furniture he made for his room, lately.

Nobody said not to, so we'll tell you that Carroll House received her diamond the day before Christmas from Art Casey, and is busy assembling a trousseau for their marriage next month. Carroll is a very artistic girl, formerly a career enthusiast, but Art has changed all that. Congratulations to them both.

Christmas week will be rounded out with some romantic news, for which see Monday's Journal.

We wonder whether there's anything significant in Santa Claus' gift of a goodlooking new cedar hopechest to Mary Emily Majors?

If you're tired of dancing or talking or talking and would like to try on those gift slippers with the fluffy tassels on 'em, draw a chair up to the fire and read Elizabeth Corbett's book, "A Nice Long Evening."

Old Mrs. Meigs, who's 80, but has more pep than lots of young people, carries on her daily affairs including a bout or two with contract bridge, a gentle poke into the affairs of her family, a drastic action here and there, and a lot of intriguing introspection—good reading, all.

Then there's the local young man who received five Christmas ties, all blue and all striped!

Patty Rapp, who's home from Scripps for the holidays, hosted today at a homecoming luncheon for some of her college friends.

The H. B. Rapp home has been buzzing with activity since Patty's return. Christmas day a family group dining'n' chatting... among them Mrs. Rapp's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Hilsen, and Mr. Rapp's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Rapp of Hollywood, Mrs. William Newlove and son, Jack, of Hollywood, and Mrs. Rapp's uncle, R. B. Laird, of Minneapolis, Minn.

New Year's day will dawn on a private watch party at the Country club, we hear.

Latest honors to Barbara Rowland: She's been invited to ride in Pasadena's Tournament of Roses parade. Hope it doesn't rain!

Hello to Ruth Ann'n Clyde Spears of Hollywood, down for the holidays and calling on friends Christmas morning along with Ruth's sister, Muriel Jane Walker.

The beautiful new Lemon Heights home of the J. H. Pankeys is being thronged this afternoon and tonight by some 700 of their friends, invited to their open house.

Speaking of big and better housewarming, Bob Deufree and sister, Lysa Ayer, are out to stretch their records this New Year's eve. Once they had an informal, "come and bring your friends," party at which 77 names went into one of their numerous guest books. So this year they're set to get at least 78. Everybody's invited and let your Tattler get the number and the house will probably hold still more." is brother Bob's invitation. They're initiating their new mountain home in Silverado canyon. A log will be on the fire from 6 p. m. Tuesday, on. "So come, all you busy."

Seen being busy: Harriette (Mrs. Harold) Dale, rushing around with a wet cloth, wiping spots off while the kiddies of Santa Ana Junior Ebbels smiled beautifully and crunched ice cream and cookies.

SHE'S POPULAR YOUNG MATRON

Mrs. Albert S. Paine (Josephine Ball), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Ball, Santa Ana, is one of the newest and most charming of Balboa's young matrons. Hers was a lovely wedding of recent date at Claremont.

Janet Briggs Santa Anans Passes Her Exams

That Miss Janet Briggs now has her doctor's degree in mining engineering was the joyous news received yesterday by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George S. Briggs of North Broadway and her aunt, Miss Gertrude Potts of 637 North Ross street, who returned from Europe Christmas day.

Miss Briggs is still in Vienna, where she has been studying for the past two and one-half years in the Leoben university. Previously, she studied at Stanford university. In addition to her mechanical prowess, she is an accomplished aviatrix.

Miss Potts spent part of her six months abroad in traveling the Orient, and some of the time visiting her niece, who will continue studying in Vienna until March, and is expected home next May.

CHAPMANS HAVE FAMILY AT HOME

It was reunion time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Chapman 722 Halladay, Christmas day when children of the host and hostess gathered for a holiday celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Chapman of San Francisco stayed until yesterday when they returned to the northern city, taking with them Mr. and Mrs. Tom Chapman of Fullerton, who was also at the dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Walker Chapman came from Utah and are still visiting, and Mr. and Mrs. Alton Chapman came from Needles, returning to Arizona where Mr. Chapman is to work. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Baker, friends from Tucson, Ariz., also were guests.

YOUNG COUPLE TRAVELING IN NORTH

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Basse (Edna Kohler), whose wedding took place Christmas day at the home of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Ben B. Stakeholder, Long Beach, Christmas day, are honeymooning in the north.

The bride attended Santa Ana High school and Junior college. She and her husband will live in Santa Ana. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Kohler of Delhi road, and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Basse of Westminster.

WALNUT SHEET

By Mrs. J. C. Lamb
Redhill Avenue, Tustin
Ingredients: Two cups walnuts sliced, 1 cup brown sugar, 2 eggs, 5 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder.

Cream eggs and sugar. Sift baking powder with flour, mix together, adding walnuts last. Bake in thin sheet in pan six by eight inches for about half an hour. Spread waxed paper over bottom

Hurrah! Ebell Kiddies Have Frolic

"Whee!" And so little Mary dodged through London bridge, was caught and had to wear a bright crepe paper hat.

It was all sorts of fun for the 35 very sub subbels and the young eligible bachelors of 20 years hence, at yesterday afternoon's Christmas party of Santa Ana Junior Ebell for their youngsters, in the clubhouse Peacock room.

Mrs. J. Russel Wilson, general chairman of the party, brought her daughter, grand-daughter of the Senior Ebell president, Mrs. Fred Rowland. Young Barbara Joan Wilson wore a perky pink taffeta party frock with rosebuds on it, and had a grand time.

Alice Patricia Harvey, youngest guest there, was duly excited as she dashed around the room. Entertainment was provided by Miss Mary Bowyer, who told a story.

Miss Boyer presented four children who gave a puppet show.

The hostess group served ices and cookies. Last thing in the afternoon, gifts were taken down from a large old-fashioned tree and distributed to the children. All Christmas decorations were used in the room.

Sharing in the hostessing were Mesdames Wendell Finley, Thoburn White, John Ebersole, Chester Horton, George Walker, Frederick Elliott and Harold Dale.

MAGNOLIA CIRCLE MEETS AT LUNCHEON

Magnolia Circle members of the Royal Neighbors of America were guests yesterday at the home of Mrs. Mary Schiaman, 1221 West Fifth street, for a covered-dish luncheon and Christmas gift exchange.

Mrs. Elizabeth Lavery and Mrs. Frederica Miller were co-hostesses with her.

Mrs. Jean Tibbets had arranged a small paper tree with seals bearing numbers for the guests pulled the seals off the tree, they were presented a gift with a corresponding number.

Mrs. Nettie Smith and Mrs. Laura Dunlap were in charge of the exchange in the absence of the chairman.

Identity of silent neighbors was disclosed and new names selected for the next six months.

Mrs. Nancy Snyder, who lives west of the city, will be hostess at the next meeting Jan. 25.

The Thinkers

Wherein women of the community express their views on topics of particular interest to women.

What do you think of the common practice of "tipping" waitresses, porters and others rendering public services?

Mrs. Roy V. Shafer: If I were in the place of the recipient of the tip, I should say I don't favor it. But when I am well served, I like a tip people. If a system could be worked out by which tipping could be done away with, it would be a good thing.

Mrs. G. L. Cramer: If extra service is given, tipping is all right. Personally, though, I don't approve of it. It takes away from personal dignity, I think.

To Santa Claus:

Thank you, Mister, for giving us the best Christmas since 1930.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Utility Companies:

I notice you are paying your taxes "under protest." Well, who doesn't? It hasn't done the rest of us much good. We shall watch with interest the outcome of your united fuss.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To Students of the Liquor Question:

I am interested in the series of articles The Journal is publishing on the liquor situation and I am sure you will be, too. It is an issue California will have to meet and decide before long, regardless of what conditions are here and about which, it is only fair to say, there has been little complaint.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To the New Year:

A great responsibility rests upon your shoulders, young fellow. We are anxious to see how you deliver. Old 1935 has rather smoothed the way. If you use judgment and keep your head, maybe we'll be able yet to pack up our troubles in the old kit bag and smile, smile, smile. Anyway, here's luck.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To California Farmers:

I learn from the California Agricultural Extension service that farm prices in California in 1935, are on the average, approximately 35 per cent above those of 1932. This is good news. We are told these gains have been due largely to increasing consumer purchasing power in this country, to the reduction of excessive supplies which had accumulated prior to 1932 and, for a number of commodities, to better adjustments of current production and marketing. Whatever the cause, we are all thankful for the showing.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To John F. Condon:

I notice that you, the famous "Jafsie" in the Lindbergh case, are advertising in Variety magazine for a job as a vaudeville trouper and using your background in the Lindbergh case as proof of your ability to fill the house. In view of this and other highlights of the Lindbergh trial, maybe Governor Hoffman was right in making a personal investigation before the day arrives for Hauptmann's execution. Maybe that act of yours during the trial and the presence of Colonel Lindbergh was too much melodrama on which to try a man for his life.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To the District Attorney's Office:

If my memory serves me correctly there was a so-called "mystery man" who was supposed to have much to do with the finances of the county recorder. At least that is what testimony before the grand jury said. If Miss Whitney is to be spared criminal prosecution by trying her first on ouster proceedings, what becomes of the mystery man and all the others who helped Miss Whitney in her alleged financial irregularities? Is this to be a whitewash for everybody but Miss Whitney? Are the others—the men who knew all about the affair—such short sports as to make a poor woman carry the bag alone? There are a good many folks in this county who want to know.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To the City Council:

You have before you a plan to acquire a start toward a city park, an improvement long needed in Santa Ana. There is a site at West Washington and Flower streets. It consists of 20 acres. The price, I am told, is something in excess of $28,000, far less than ever was quoted on this property. There is a surplus of several times that much in the city water fund. If it is used for this purpose, water users will get some of the benefit of the water department's profit. If it is used for something else, the fund will be used, probably wisely, but in ways so abstract it will be difficult to find. I understand the option on this property expires Jan. 3. We have waited long enough for a park. We have imposed on Anaheim long enough. We have buried our pride times without number. Let's buy this property and improve it as we can. Let's keep up with our neighbors, if we can't keep ahead of them.

COL. V. ORANGE.

To James Irvine:

It was with no little satisfaction that I read this week of overtures made by Riverside and San Bernardino counties concerning the settlement of water rights affecting those two counties and Orange county on the Santa Ana river. We are told the upper counties have "uncovered their cards" and have informed Orange county as to how much water they should be allowed to hold back and sink into the underground basin of San Bernardino county. In other words, the upper counties are ready to "talk turkey" after years of controversy over rights to which all three counties lay claim. I am certain Orange county owes you a debt of gratitude for even a start toward effecting an equitable settlement because it was through your lawsuit that the upper counties were stopped from establishing permanent spreading rights in the upper basin.

COL. V. ORANGE.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

There are times, I presume, when almost every dub of the writing clan longs for a stab at being serious, even ponderous. To click for one of those fleeting moments as a Wells, Kipling or Bolitho. I sat down at the typewriter flurrying with such a fantasy. But a few desultory taps of the space bars, an aimless neatening of the desk, a stare out of the window and the ballooning ego sags into wrinkled dilemma. So here I am, rain' to go but with nothing important to say. A donkey, so to speak, with the mental heaves.

From a tent in Arizona the other day I received a note from a lonely valiant fighting back to health: "I once read in your column of a fellow named Rocky Watterson or Raddy Wathacker. It's one or the other, I know, but which?" Well it is Waddy Rothacker, to be precise.

It strikes me that's about as nearly right as anyone is about anything. I've yet to meet the 100 per cent correct human. Indeed I would shrink from meeting one who had reached that perfection. I have a definite hunch he would be a terrific bore.

I warm to people who accept a few things by faith, too. They are motivated by a feeling they cannot explain and despite high nosed sniffs of the self-satisfied they get along, packing a serenity the faithless never attain, to boot. Most drunks, hop-heads and assorted perverts I've run across have a jeer for the blessed promises. Any crack-pot can make a seriously religious fellow look foolish in debate. Such emotions are not debatable. But those with faith have a happy conviction the doubter rarely attains.

New York journalism has a carping omniscient who frivols many of his working hours bawling for the blunders of his fellow writers. And his gurgles of ecstasy in finding them reverberates in his writings. Every psychoanalyst knows that flaunting such a text book superiority is a fixation with those who feel inferior. It is the oldest of the recognized complexes.

I would not care to write, even if it were intellectually possible, a column that was air tight grammatically. That smacks too much of a fear of one's audience. A daily column is not a sacred anthology requiring great thought. It has a hit and miss hurry that never attains formality. In informality is often its charm, if any. Readers like to feel one up on a split infinitive, mixed metaphor or prepositional ending. I'm quite conscious, for instance, that beat should not be used for defeat. But back in our country we never inquire. "Who won?" a ball game. We asked: "Who beat?" I like and use it when the copy reader isn't too nibby.

I get a kick out of strange and often obsolete words, too. Not to appear mentally la-de-dah. Any fool knows I wangle them out of a dictionary at my desk side. I like them for the way they roll off the tongue, their euphony. I cannot recall the topic of a single essay in the iconoclastic Brann, but I like the lit and pomp of his phraseology. He made words march, lie down, and swing on the flying trapeze. Much of writing is sheer carpentry and there's a sizable Dodd-Mead book to show the most skeptical no one has written anything important that has not been written before in almost identical language.

Hemingway notched a place in literature by shucking polished flub-dubbery and socking the reader with what the finicky call vices but which he called guts. His mile-long, involved sentences would not escape a freshman's correction in a Petticoat Gulch high school. His books are flocked with grammatical awfulness, but Hemingway manages somehow. Indeed the report is he's sittin' pretty. He did not grease his wares to slide by. He festooned them with thorns, thistles and cacti, and they stuck.

Will Rogers, Ring Lardner and H. C. Witwer didn't do badly making literature of illiteracy. Neither has Sam Hellman. Shakespeare has his flair for redundancy. Meredith double-negated all over the lot and Joseph Conrad had no knowledge of grammar. I enjoy the works of the masters and have probably read them as much as many living contemporaries. But I'm not going to try to compete with them in the helter-skelter of a daily column even though I could. And which as anyone must know, I can't.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—The wisest of those who have their long-range telescopes trained on the European situation, believe that the danger of general war is greater than ever.

Reason for their deduction is not far below the surface. Briefly, it is the fact that the new ring of Mediterranean nations surrounding Mussolini contains two bitter traditional enemies of Italy.

These two—Jugoslavia and Turkey—would like nothing better than to precipitate war against their ancient enemy, especially at a time when they are sure of the support of France and Great Britain.

Ever since the Versailles treaty gave Fiume to Italy, Jugoslavia has nursed a grudge against her Adriatic neighbor. And there have been occasions, even during normal times of peace, when Britain and France have exerted vigorous diplomatic pressure to restrain the Yugoslav military clique from walking across the border.

Turkey likewise nurses a grudge against Italy, dating back to the War of 1911, when Rome took away Tripoli, Rhodes, Libya and other Turkish colonies in Africa and the Mediterranean. The Turks now have an up-to-date army, 370 planes, two battleships, two cruisers and 10 smaller craft. There is nothing they would like more than a chance to use them— with British support—against the Italians.

INSIDE STORY

The inside story of how this new Mediterranean line-up was arranged has been cabled piecemeal to diplomats and state department officials. But together, it makes a revealing drama of what really has been going on in Europe during the past 10 days.

It began with the abortive Hoare-Laval agreement.

Despite the statement of Premier Baldwin that the agreement was an "error," it was not at first so considered by the Baldwin cabinet. It was based on the sound belief that in case of war with Italy, Britain would have to stand alone. France had informed Baldwin that the French fleet and army would not be mobilized.

SMALL NATIONS

Therefore, when the storm of public opinion broke against the Hoare-Laval agreement, and when the smaller nations proclaimed that France and Britain had undercut the league, Capt. Anthony Eden replied, in effect:

"In case of war with Italy, Great Britain would have to bear the burden alone. Therefore, it is up to us to make our peace-or-war decisions."

And as the storm of public opinion became more intense, Stanley Baldwin went before parliament to "unseal his lips" regarding the refusal of France and other league nations to back the British.

On the Monday before this, however, two things happened.

The Yugoslav minister in London called at the foreign office to say that Jugoslavia was prepared to put its army and navy behind Great Britain in case of war with Italy. Furthermore, he emphasized that any statement by Baldwin regarding lack of support against Italy would be denied by Jugoslavia.

LITTLE ENTENTE

On the same day, Foreign Minister Titulescu of Roumania, spokesman for the Little Entente, called upon Premier Laval. He informed Laval that Roumania, Czechoslovakia and Jugoslavia were ready to back France and Great Britain to the limit.

Simultaneously, Captain Eden had been carrying on conversations with the representatives of Spain, Turkey and Greece. Spain took the matter under advisement. The Turks promised military and naval support plus the bombing of the adjacent Italian naval base at Rhodes. The Greeks pledged the use of harbors in Crete and at Piraeus by British warships.

Thus, almost overnight, the position of the Baldwin government was materially strengthened. For, despite the outburst of critical public opinion, Baldwin was not ready to risk British isolation in a war with Italy.

FRENCH SUPPORT

Overnight also, the position of the French was changed.

Suddenly Laval woke up to find the Little Entente, once created by France, now dictating policy to France. And in order to avoid the embarrassment of being the tail wagged by the Little Entente dog, Laval also pledged support to Great Britain in the Mediterranean.

What the Little Entente wants, of course, is obvious.

Jugoslavia, as before stated, wants Trieste and Fiume. She has 570 airplanes and one of the crack armies of Europe.

Czechoslovakia wants a slice of Hungary, which is an ally and friend of Italy. The Czechs have not forgotten how Italy smuggled arms into Hungary for use against the Little Entente several years ago.

Roumania also wants to carve out another slice from her ancient enemy, Hungary.

Greece has not forgotten Mussolini's seizure of Corfu. Furthermore, the new king of Greece, George II, was raised in Great Britain.

But the two countries to keep your eyes on are Jugoslavia and Turkey. The question is whether they will precipitate war with Italy first, or whether Mussolini, seeing himself hemmed in by enemies, may strike the first blow in desperation and in order to save his own prestige.

In either case, only a miracle can save Europe from a general war.

DAY COACH VOTE

The President is telling friends the following story on himself:

En route back to Washington on his last trip he had a chat with the Negro porter who is always assigned to his car when he travels.

"George," said the President, "how am I doing? Some people tell me I'm slipping."

"Well, I'll tell you, Mr. President, it's this way. There sure is a lot of grumbling and grumbling in the Pullmans and chair cars, but in the day coaches, they're all for you," said George.

One feels that in his heart of hearts President Roosevelt still applauds the slogan he took from the late Huey Long, "Soak the Rich."—H. Gordon Selfridge, American-born London merchant.

One Man's Opinion

By Duncan Ellsworth Clark

EDITOR'S NOTE.—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

Cleveland Scene of G. O. P. Victory in 1924

In 1904, nor Taft in 1908. Hungary old guard pushed through Harding's nomination in 1920.

Four times the Chicago nominees for the grand old party have lost the race. Dynamic Blaine, the Plumed Knight, went down in defeat before Grover Cleveland, 1884, when the Mugwumps deserted him. In 1912, the progressive split opened the way for Wilson. "He kept us out of war," was too much for Hughes, 1916. The futile Hoover nomination, 1932, was a mere formality.

Thrice Republican conventions have met in Philadelphia. They shouted for Fremont, the Pathfinder, 1856. They renominated Grant, 1872. They whooped it up for McKinley and "Imperialism," 1900. They led a desperate fight for Lincoln in Baltimore, 1864. Their Cincinnati nominee, Hayes, won by a fluke, 1876. They lost to Cleveland a second time after nominating Harrison at Minneapolis, 1892. The triumphant "Full Dinner-Pail" got into swing at St. Louis, with McKinley, 1896. "Unlimited prosperity" picked on Hoover at Kansas City, 1928. Only once before had Cleveland been selected at the convention city when "Keep Cool with Coolidge" swept to victory in 1924.

Lemon Juice

Howdy, folks! Only 362 days until next Yuletide. Do your Christmas shopping early!

This is the day that Little Bobbie breaks his Christmas velocipede trying to ride down the cellar stairs.

It is also the day that father pretends he is sick so that he can stay home from the office and play with his young son's electric train.

ECONOMY NOTE

Ezra Pinchpenny, the stingiest man in Santa Ana, is up to his old tricks. Ezra postponed buying his Christmas tree until today so that he could get it at half price.

Do you remember 'way back when small boys got a pair of copper-toed boots for Christmas? Neither do we.

ANNUAL POST-CHRISTMAS DIRGE

'Twas the night after Christmas And father had spent The coin he had saved for the Groceries and rent;

Had gone to the hay, But Paw, he stayed up, So's to dope out a way To settle his bills when The blame things came due, But he soon gave it up And went to bed, too.

The government is wise. It waits almost three months after Christmas before trying to collect an income tax.

TODAY'S STATISTICS

Statistical Sam estimates that there were 25,000 women in Orange county yesterday looking for the price-marks on gifts which had been obliterated by 25,000 other women.

Santa Claus is a very careful driver. He landed on thousands of Santa Ana roofs Tuesday and didn't get tangled up in a single radio aerial.

LUCKY MAN

The cave-man was a lucky chap. His fate was far from cruel; He never had to wear the tie His wife gave him for Yule!

L'il Gee Gee has just received a package from her sweetie containing a diamond ring, and she is pretty mad. The package is marked "Glass. Handle With Care."

YE DIARY

Earlie up, and all the day, with the children, to playing with the toys they did receive for Christmas, and Lord! we vastly merrily and content, albeit Babie Juice mighty sick at the stumminck for a few minutes, she devouring, when we be not looking, all the candy canes on the Christmas tree, but anon well again, and happy. So passed the day.

Hoora! Aunt Aggie forget to send us a silver-plated picklefork for Christmas!

Remarkable Remarks

If there is another general flare-up, as in 1914, Britain, win or lose, is going to pieces.—Sir Norman Angell, Nobel Peace prize winner.

The bottom of a saucer may show a curve, but that wouldn't make it a globe.—Wilbur Glenn Voliva, commenting on stratosphere pictures said to reveal earth's curvatures.

The last six months have displayed clearly that the League of Nations is primarily a political and not peace instrument.—Senator Arthur Vandenberg, Michigan.

SKINNY SKRIBBLES

Around and About Town

With C. F. SKIRVIN

Two forlorn newspapermen, unable to conceal the ravages of the prolonged depression, came within the solicitude of Pastor O. Scott McFarland. It was a natural. They had stopped at an intersection where the minister is accustomed to getting the "say, brother" stuff, and just automatically he reached down for the touch before he had arrived for the interview. Boy, the Christmas spirit was surely working.

Dan Mulholland gives me the Merry Christmas greeting on the 27th. Guess it must be for 1936.

Our Democratic friends called their meeting in Los Angeles yesterday an "open house." That was to let the Republicans in, and the Epics out.

Leland Plavin came to town yesterday from the Newport road district, and explained that he could not work on account of the rain. It don't take much rain to keep some people from working. You see Leland operates a plow so big there is nothing like it in all the world, and it does not require much rain to put the plow hors de combat. By the way, he told me confidentially he wouldn't mind resting up a few days if we could get several inches of rain.

Two friends, one for each side, want to take me to the Santa Anita races. That would be a new experience for me. The invitation will be accepted upon the promise that passes will be supplied, and then I get hungry along about 5 o'clock. There will be other requirements, but they come later.

Occasionally a daguerreotype edition of the human family appears. Noticed one yesterday as the clouds went rolling by. He was picking his way along with the aid of a cane, and carrying an umbrella under his arm, believing in preparedness, even if the rain did not come. Met another fellow who said he left his raincoat at home, expressing his willingness to get soaked, and hoped he would.

Chet Dale starts for Los Angeles to attend a Democratic conference, and goes out of his way to tell me that he is taking "Doc" Barnes along so he can check back on what happened in Iowa many years ago. So far Chet and "this person" have reminisced about a number of incidents occurring in southwestern Iowa and northeastern Missouri. So far I'm about three laps ahead of experiences on Dale, and he wants to get hold of Barnes so he can even up the score. Oh, well, what didn't happen "Doc" can create, so it looks like they will make a cripple out of me.

Yesterday was a good day to collect Republican news. Most of the Democrats were in Los Angeles.

Bill Lambert suggested to Patrolman Hunter Leach that he tag a certain individual so it would be easier to find him. The signal was in Bill's favor about this time, so he got away.

A mountain in San Francisco sector moves 75 feet. That's either a matter of faith or topographical disturbance. And then again the men who were laying out another subdivision may have had something to do with the mountain moving, and there wasn't any mustard seed mixed up in it.

Fred Chapman wanted me to go with him to visit a sick friend, but I asked for more time—anytime after the first of the year. Then he gave me a long while to make up my mind. You see when you get to thinking slow you also get to acting slow. But Fred told me it was all right; that he was in no hurry.

Postmaster Frank Harwood closed up his part of the building yesterday and went to the Democratic meeting in Los Angeles, but he left the stamp windows open.

"There goes a suit of clothes," said a well-known rancher who found it necessary to give the grove a drink. The expense just about equaled a suit, which he looked forward to for some time. No flood control, no rain, no clothes. So back to the wardrobe for a 1933 model.

Maybe after the Democrats hold a few more hundred meetings the Republicans will gather to point some place to some thing. They got to get up a sign or I'll lose my way. Haven't been to a Republican meeting for so long I almost forgot that Howard Irwin was chairman of the Orange county committee. Oh, well, what's the hurry? We won't vote until next year.

My invitations for New Year visits exceed my capacity. So please send your rain checks to my address. I'll try and take care of them as the days go by bye.
